

Unit 1 Assignment Calendar

Please use the following unit 1 guide to keep up with your homework assignments and remain aware of the supplemental reading and online support available to increase your understanding of course content.

Remember: Homework may not be checked daily, but you will always be responsible for having it completed and ready for a notebook check. The date posted below is the date you are expected to do that assignment so that it is complete by the next class period. Additional homework assignments may be assigned regularly, please pay attention to what is posted in class.

All notes and reading assignments can be found on our class website: aphug.online
